

Ten Chimneys Foundation Seeks Volunteer Docents and Shadows

Ten Chimneys Foundation in Genesee Depot is offering a new training course for Docents and Shadows to grow its exceptional volunteer base. Docents at Ten Chimneys lead two-hour tours of the National Historic Landmark home of Broadway legends Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, located in Genesee Depot. Shadows assist the Docent on each tour.

“The rich experience of Ten Chimneys is like no other. Our Volunteers bring the Estate alive through their dedication, knowledge, and enthusiasm. We could never provide an extraordinary experience without them. Being a volunteer at Ten Chimneys allows you escape into a world that only most people can dream of. I invite you to come and be inspired on the Estate created by the Lunts where theater royalty and many other greats of artistic expression joined together to create their own Design for Living.” Randy Bryant, CEO & President, Ten Chimneys Foundation

All Docents and Shadows complete an in-depth training course in preparation to lead tours. Classes will begin in May with the classroom training component. (We will discuss date and time possibilities if the scheduled training does not fit your availability.) The classroom sessions are followed by hands-on training, scheduled individually. The training course includes a historical study of the Lunts and their era, a focus on the core values for which the Lunts were best remembered and an in-depth exploration of the decorative arts found at Ten Chimneys. Those who successfully complete the training will join a remarkable corps of volunteers and make a commitment to volunteer each month during the tour season (mid-May through early December). Active volunteers invited to attend volunteer meetings held 4 times a year, participate in continuing education sessions, and join us for other events during the season.

Prospective volunteers may get more information and complete a volunteer application on our website <http://www.tenchimneys.org/volunteer>. Or please contact Janis Foll at (262) 968-4161 to learn more or have an application sent to you.
